“As Source Presence I can see through any color dust of the mind.”

The Arise Card signals a turning point in specific issues or life in general, and a shift towards mastery and healing. Beyond shadows, or even overwhelming polarities, the Source of light shines on the Inner Child who can rest now, because there are no more reasons to fear or act out.

Or do you feel too overwhelmed to see the light at the end of the tunnel? Did your Inner Child ask for your love by creating dramatic scenes in your life? If so, please stop for a moment and clear the dust out of your eyes to see that your freedom is waiting for you! Nothing is preventing you from claiming it, except your repetitive habits and beliefs.

You release much negativity on this journey, but focusing on it is not necessary, and could even prevent you from seeing that your freedom is emerging. When your Inner Child asks for your attention, sharing glee or despair, why let deep emotions pull you into an old reality? As a compassionate elder, you can embrace the child in love, without affirming any victimhood.

About the Authors

Michiel Kroon was born and grew up in the Netherlands. While following his formal education, he also studied yoga and meditation and had his first spiritual awakening. After university, he decided to switch his focus and to align his life with his spiritual purpose on a deeper level. It was his care-work with children in the late 2000s that refined his focus to find a living truth within his Heart.

He then had another powerful spiritual awakening in Glastonbury, England and began to channel Archangel Michael and the Pleiadian energy. He applied it in private healing sessions and then in workshops in southwest England. During this period, he also expressed this connection in the visual and sound arts with exhibitions at the Glastonbury Galleries.

Leanne Ta'Iki Anawa had a spiritual awakening during the Harmonic Convergence in the late 1980s and started meditating at an early age. She attended an art college, but her focus shifted from art to psychology.

Leanne's continuing meditation practice led to a second spiritual awakening in 2011, which opened a transformational connection with past lives and guides from Lemuria. For a while, she worked as a clinical psychologist during the week, and offered readings and Lemurian Healing on the weekends. She is now a full-time spiritual healer and artist, and working with people on many different levels and dimensions.

Before recently settling in Glastonbury, Michiel and Leanne traveled to inspirational landscapes across England, and to Wales, the Netherlands, the South of France, Spain and Ibiza, to work on and share The Lemurian Starchild Oracle message.
